Dear

Your speech truly brought me to tears. I'm at a very difficult time in my life and hearing your words really helped me to open my eyes. Thank you.

- Laura P.

Brittany...

I absolutely loved hearing your story today. I teared up multiple times throughout. You are amazing and you really touched me and truly showed how powerful women are.

- Kate C.

The validation you gave me, after 3 years of being unsure if I truly was assaulted, finally empowered me with the confidence and bravery to tell my family and be strong enough to reassure them that I am, in fact, okay. Thank you so much.

- Amanda

You're such a strong, inspirational woman and I can definitely relate to parts of your story. These topics are ones that no one wants to address so it was encouraging to hear about someone else having similar experiences and overcoming those struggles.

- Sarah S.

Tonight for the first time I opened up about being assaulted last semester. I know if you had not spoken today I would not have told my sisters, maybe ever. You have also allowed me to cry for the first time since it happened and I will be reaching out to campus resources soon to start the healing process. Never stop doing what you're doing.

- Anonymous

You summed up trauma so well. Your talk gave me hope that I will be healed someday. You are an incredibly brave, beautiful individual and I hope you continue to touch people's hearts everywhere you go because you certainly touched mine tonight.

- Madi B.

She was relevant and relatable to all the women in the room, from twenty-year-olds through retirees!"
